PREFACE

For many years I wondered who my ancestors were, where they came from, and what part they played in the development of our country. It became apparent, however, as the years went by, that the only way to learn about the various branches of the family would be by a lot of hard work and research. So, on the premise that "without a beginning there can be no end," I undertook the task of preparing a biographical history of the members of my family. This book is devoted to the McCormick and Jones families.

"The McCormicks of Kintyre" was chosen as a title because the McCormicks herein are all descendants of John McCormick, born on the Kintyre Peninsula of Scotland.

In addition to the many problems inherent in obtaining and verifying the information for such history, much thought and study was devoted to format to be used. The format contained herein, while somewhat unorthodox, was considered to be the simplest and most practical for ready reference.

Every effort has been made to insure that all information contained herein is absolutely correct. Where there is an element of uncertainty it has been so indicated. Despite all possible precautions, however, it would seem almost miraculous if some errors did not occur in a compilation of this kind. If errors are found, the author would appreciate being so notified.

My only hope is that those of you who read this little history will enjoy it as much as I have enjoyed preparing it.

The first part of the document is a letter from the President of the United States to the Congress, dated January 1, 1800. It is a very important document, as it is the first time that the President has addressed the Congress. The letter is written in a very formal and dignified style, and it contains many important points. The President begins by expressing his gratitude to the Congress for its support of his administration. He then goes on to discuss the state of the Union, and the progress of his administration. He mentions the many laws that have been passed, and the many improvements that have been made. He also mentions the many difficulties that have been faced, and the many sacrifices that have been made. The letter ends with a very strong statement of the President's confidence in the future of the United States.

The second part of the document is a letter from the Vice President of the United States to the Congress, dated January 1, 1800. It is a very important document, as it is the first time that the Vice President has addressed the Congress. ### REFERENCE NUMBERS

In order to provide an easy system of reference the work herein is divided into sections, each separate family being given a separate section number. These sections are numbered serially. Preceding each name heading a section is a number in parentheses. This number refers to another section where the same name may be found. This system permits tracing the genealogy backward or forward with equal ease. By means of these reference numbers and the index it will be easy to determine the place of any individual on the family tree. It also makes it easy to ascertain the degree of relationship between members of the family.

The index contains the names of all persons mentioned and the number of the section or sections in which each name may be found. The section numbers referring to the Jones family are prefaced by the letter "J."

ELIGIBILITY FOR MEMBERSHIP IN D.A.R. AND S.A.R.

All blood descendants of John McCormick and Henry Jones are eligible for membership in the "Daughters of the American Revolution" or the "Sons of the American Revolution." John McCormick served 84 months in the Revolutionary War as a private in the 4th North Carolina Regiment of the Continental Line. Henry Jones served five months as a private and saw action in the battle of Camden. A number of memberships have been obtained based on the service of John McCormick. It is very likely that memberships have been based on the service of Henry Jones, but definite proof is not available.

THE McCORMICK FAMILY

The McCormick family originated in Ireland and McCormick as a surname was well established in Munster before the 9th Century by some of the descendants of Cormac Cas Son of OLLIOL OLLUM, King of Munster A.D. 177. The possessions of the original McCormick clan were located in the present counties of Cork and Tipperary, Ireland. The ancient name was Cormicain, which signified "Son of Crown." A version of the old Gaelic spelling of the name continued even to America. John McCormick, the emigrant of this line of McCormicks, spelled his name "Ian McCormaig" for some time after he came to this country. Some of the North Carolina records in the area where he lived are still on file showing this spelling. His descendants, however, have consistently spelled their name "McCormick."

Although the McCormick family was founded in Ireland, this branch immigrated to America from Scotland which lies to the immediate North East of Ireland. These two countries are separated by the North Channel which is only a few miles wide at the narrowest point. Just when this line of the family emigrated from Ireland to Scotland is not known. The earliest record we have is of John McCormick, one of three brothers who emigrated to America from Kintyre, Scotland, a peninsula in Southwest Argyllshire, between the Firth of Clyde and the Atlantic Ocean. The three brothers were:

(1)	John	March 20, 1738	Scotland
( )	Duncan - ancestor of Clifford	1740	Scotland
( )	Gilbert	-	Scotland

McCormick of Dillora, sc

This compilation is concerned only with the descendants of John.

* JOHN McCORMICK, Immigrant

Born March 20, 1738, in Kintyre, Scotland. Emigrated to America in 1768, and settled in South Carolina near the North Carolina State line. He later moved to North Carolina near what is now Rowland, N. C. It is believed that he landed in America at Wilmington, N. C. He was a farmer with rather extensive land holdings. Among other properties, he owned Long Branch plantation near Rowland, N. C. He was a Presbyterian. He married Barbara McEachern, who was born October 22, 1747, in Kintyre, Scotland. It is not definitely known whether they married in Scotland or after they arrived in America. He served 84 months in the Revolutionary War as a private in the 4th North Carolina Regiment of the Continental Line. For his military service he received 640 acres of land and a slave. Following is a copy of the Military Warrant issued for the 640 acres of land:

"State of North Carolina

No. 3067

The Honorable James Glasgon, Esquire
Secretary of State

To Colonel Martin Armstrong, Greetings:

John - See Roster of Soldiers from N.C. by D. A. P. - p. 545
" - 1790 Census, Robeson Co, N.C.

"You are hereby required to lay off and survey for the heirs of John McCormick--extriat--in the line of this state, six hundred and forty acres of land within the limits of the lands reserved by law for the officers and soldiers of the Continental line of this State, observing the directions of the Act of Assembly in such cases made and provided for running out land to just and fair plans thereof with a Certificate to each annexed. You are to transmit to my office within the time limited by law.

Given under my hand at New Bern the 3d day of November 1785.

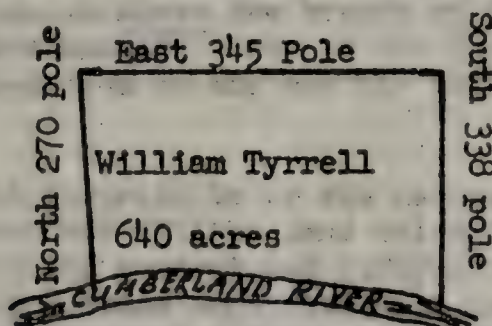

W G Williams

D'Lee"

The land allotted by the above Military Warrant was surveyed and deeded to him May 26, 1796. The land was located in Davidson County, Tenn., near the present site of Nashville. He sold this land to another Revolutionary War veteran, who had been allotted the adjoining section, as evidenced by the following survey report:

"State of Tennessee
Davidson County

Scale of 200 pole to an inch

"By virtue of a Military Warrant from the Secretary of State No. 3067 located May the 26th One thousand seven hundred & ninety six, I have surveyed for William Tyrrell assn., of John McCormick, six hundred and forty acres of land lying on the north side of Cumberland River joining a survey of his own of 640 acres No. 3066 below, beginning at a box elder on the bank of the river, corner to the above survey, running down the river agreeable to its several meanders three hundred and fifty-two pole to black walnut in McNeese's line, thence North with said McNeese's line two hundred pole to a branch, crossing Bull Run at two hundred sixty pole, in all two hundred & seventy pole to a beach (tree), thence east three hundred forty-five pole to a stake thence south three hundred and thirty-eight pole to the beginning.

wife of Flora McDonald, mother of Catherine McDonald McCormick, died at about 95 yrs. Her will probated 3rd June 1844.

Flora McDonald was born in 1722 in Milton, South Uist, one of the Hebrides of Scotland. She was the daughter of a farmer named Donald, who was the son of Angus, who was the youngest son of Milton McDonald. Her mother was Marion, daughter of the Reverend Angus McDonald. In the fall of 1741 she went to Edinburg, Scotland, and spent several years in the home of Sir Alexander and Lady Margaret McDonald, attending school there. She went back to Milton in 1744. In 1746 Prince Charles Edward of the House of Stewart fought the English in an attempt to seize the throne of England. He was defeated at Culloden and had to flee for his life. He met Flora McDonald who helped him escape to the west of Skye by disguising him as an Irish Maid. Later she was arrested having assisted Prince Charles and was imprisoned for a year in the Tower of London. Upon her release from prison she became a guest of honor in the house of Lady Primrose and was there visited by crowds of the fashionable world who paid her great homage. In London a subscription was raised for her amounting to $7500.00. All this demonstration surprised her; she had only performed an act of humanity, and never thought of it in any other light. She married Allen McDonald, Kingsburgh's son, Nov 6, 1750. She and her family set sail for North Carolina in 1774, arriving in August. Upon arrival, a ball was held in her honor in Wilmington, N. C. She lived on their estate named "Killiegrey," in what is now Richmond County, N. C. During the Revolutionary War the McDonalds remained loyal to the British and were defeated in the battle of Moore's Creek Bridge, near Wilmington, N. C., in February 1776. After the war sentiment against the McDonalds mounted and in 1779 Flora and part of her family returned to Scotland, where she died March 5, 1790.

THE JONES FAMILY

The foregoing history of the McCormick family is devoted to the descendants of Daniel Webster McCormick, who was the progenitor of this line of McCormicks in Mississippi. It seems appropriate, therefore, to give a brief genealogy of the ascendants of his wife, Sarah Amanda (Jones) McCormick who, we might say, was the Mother of this line of McCormicks in Mississippi.

Much of the information contained in this section was obtained from the book "The Cadwallader Joneses" prepared by Morgan Davis Jones and Richard Henry Jones. This book is available for reference in the Department of Archives and History, State of Alabama, Montgomery.

The earliest record we have of this line of Joneses is Cadwallader Jones I, who was born in England about 1560. Following is a chronology of the Jones line from Cadwallader Jones I, to Sarah Amanda (Jones) McCormick:

Name	Married	Principal Residence	Approx. Date of Birth
Cadwallader Jones I	Lady Ann Blewett	Greenham, England	1560
Richard Jones	Lady Jane Jeffreys	Ley, England	1585
Abraham Jones	Margaret Ravenscroft	Virginia	1610
Peter Jones I	Mary Wood	Virginia	1635
Peter Jones II	Mary Batt	Virginia	1690
Henry Jones I	Winnie Elder	Virginia	1735
Henry Jones II	Mary Hogan (2d wife)	Alabama	1762
Seaborn Jones	Elizabeth Lang	Mississippi	1799
Sarah A. Jones	Daniel W. McCormick	Mississippi	1823

CADWALLADER JONES I

He was probably born in either Wales or Cornwall, England. The exact date of his birth is not known, but there is evidence that he was born in 1559. He married Lady Ann Blewett, a wealthy heiress and Mistress of the Manor of Milverton. They had two sons and may have had other children. In some of the records concerning him, he is said to have been a Mayor of London. He lived at one time in County Devon or Devonshire, as it was also called. One of his residences was Greenham, Parish of Ashbrittle, County Somerset, England.

Despite his apparent wealth he became so deeply involved in debt, due to unsound mercantile ventures, that when he died his property went to his creditors.

(1)- RICHARD M. JONES

The son of Cadwallader I, and Lady Ann (Blewett) Jones. Following the example of his father he married a wealthy heiress, Lady Jane Jeffreys of the Manor of Ley, County Devon, England. They had five (5) sons: Cadwallader III, William, Richard, Abraham, and Frederick. The four oldest came to Virginia at an early period in the settlement of that colony. Cadwallader III, the oldest son, and as such heir to the Lordship and Manor of Ley, sold his inheritance and the deed is on record in Rappahanock County, Virginia. The date of his death is not known, but it is known that he died prior to 1681.

(2)- ABRAHAM JONES, Immigrant

He was a grandson of Cadwallader I of Greenham, Parrish of Ashbrittle, County Somerset, England, and the fourth of five sons of Sir Richard Jones who married Lady Jane Jeffreys of the Manor of Ley, County Devon, England. He came to Virginia at an early date in the settlement of that colony and secured tracts of land in Henrico and Charles City counties. In Charles City County he met and married Margaret Ravenscroft, daughter of a prominent English family. He was a Lieutenant of Militia in 1683. He died before 1690.

have the Command of a particular company in the regiment belonging to Colonel Abraham Wood, who later became a Major General, and Peter's father-in-law. The order was dated June 11, 1657. A later record showed that he was promoted to Major and given another command. He married Mary Wood, daughter of Major General Abraham Wood, about 1687 or 1688. (See brief biography of Major General Wood which follows this paragraph.) Major Peter was about ninety years old when he died. He was a man of large enterprises. He took up large tracts of land, was an Indian trader and was considered to be a man of considerable wealth. Through his wife, who was the only heir of her father, he came into possession of the bulk of General Wood's wealth. He was a man of considerable power and influence in the colony.

MAJOR GENERAL ABRAHAM WOOD

He came to Virginia from England when he was ten years old. He was a passenger on the "Mary and John," a small ship engaged in the business of transporting emigrants from London, England, to Virginia. He was described on the registry as Abraham Wood, servant, age ten years. When the ship was set upon by two Spanish men-of-war, in West Indian waters, he fought alongside other passengers. He came to Virginia bound under some sort of contract to be a servant. Apparently he had no parents living.

In 1625 he was living at Jamestown in the employment of Captain Samuel Matthews. He rose rapidly to become a member of the House of Burgesses and a member of the council; was one of the four Major Generals commanding the military establishment of Virginia. He acquired much wealth and rose to a high position in the colony. He lived first in Henrico Co. on the North side of the James River, but afterwards he moved to the South side into what was then known as Charles City Co. He was the largest patentee of lands in the vicinity of what is now Petersburg, Virginia. In 1683 he patented four hundred acres in this area and later, at different times, he was granted 5,334 acres.

In 1657 he was a member of the Governor's Council and was re-appointed the next year. The last official position he held was as a member of the "Council of State," in 1659. He promoted two exploring expeditions--one in the fall of 1671 and the other in April 1673.

His only known descendants are the descendants of his daughter Mary who married Major Peter Jones.

(4)- PETER JONES II

(Son of Major Peter Jones)

Second son of Major Peter Jones; grandson of Abraham Jones and Major General Abraham Wood, both of them immigrants to Virginia from England; and the great-grandson of Richard Jones, Merchant of London. He married Mary Batt, daughter of Thomas Batt. (She must have died young for she bore only one child and it was brought up by its maternal kindred.) Then he married Dorothy Chamberlain of whom there were eight (8) children born. The place and date of his death is not known.

(5)- HENRY JONES I

Son of Peter Jones II, grandson of Major Peter Jones of Petersburg, Virginia. Was probably born between 1730 and 1740. He was the only child by his father's first marriage. He grew up in Dinwiddie Co., Va., where he married Winnie Elder, daughter of Joseph Elder. They lived in Dinwiddie Co. near Nottoway River. They had two children, the second being born after his father's death. His widow married Robert Lenoir, a widower who lived on the south side of the Nottoway River in Brunswick Co. The children had a small estate from their father, of which their stepfather was appointed guardian. He died in 1761 or 1762.

b. Feb 9, 1762      Dinwiddie Co., Va.

(6)- HENRY JONES II

Son of Henry Jones I and Winnie (Elder) Jones. He was born in Dinwiddie Co., Va., Feb. 9, 1762. He was named for his father who died before he was born. He married three times: first, Sally Lightfoot, (born Dec. 9, 1761), dau. of Henry and Mary Lightfoot. This marriage took place on Dec. 16, 1786.

It is not known how long he lived in Virginia after his marriage. He moved to North Carolina and lived near Guilford Court House. He moved from North Carolina to Georgia where he lived near Milledgeville. He also lived in Oglethorpe Co. About 1818 he moved to Alabama and settled on the Conecuk River, where he became a prominent and influential man. He was one of five commissioners appointed to select a county seat and establish Covington Co. (Acts of Alabama 1821, pp. 69 and 1822, pp. 116-117.)

His second wife was Mary (called Polly) Hogan, whom he married in Georgia. She died at Montezuma, Covington Co., Alabama.

His last wife was Ellender (called Nellie) Payne. She was an orphan who came to Alabama with some of her relatives.

He was a veteran of the Revolutionary War. The original copy of his pension application, based on his Revolutionary War service, is on file in the National Archives, Washington, D. C. (A copy can be obtained from the National Archives for approximately $3.00.)

He died near Louisville, Barbour Co., Ala., May 15, 1851. He was buried in the Louisville Cemetery.
